28 Read this before answering the following question.

An account-based pension (also known as an allocated pension or transition to retirement pension) is a retirement income stream product purchased with superannuation money. Unlike other annuities and superannuation pensions, most investors have full access to their capital. Although there is a minimum amount that must be paid each year, the investor may nominate to receive an amount above the minimum. Account-based pensions are tax free from 60 years of age.

If you (or your partner) own any account-based pensions, income may be deemed on the account balance of the pension and added to any other income amounts you have declared to determine whether you are entitled to a Commonwealth Seniors Health Card.

Do you (or your partner) receive income from an account-based pension?

No Go to 30

Yes Give details below

 You (and/or your partner) will need to return a Details of income stream product (SA330) form or a similar schedule, for each account-based pension. The form or similar schedule must be completed by your product provider or the trustee of the Self Managed Superannuation Fund (SMSF) or Small APRA Fund (SAF) or the SMSF administrator.
